Learn new skills and increase your job prospects

Essex County Council's Adult Community Learning have just launched their 2011/12 training programme with a wide range of exciting new courses available across the county.

Responding to the economic climate and the needs of local businesses the training programme now offers tailored programmes to Essex employers who are looking to invest in or up-skill their workforce. In addition a wide range of apprenticeships are also on offer across the county for those who want to learn a trade or have a change of career.

Adult Community Learning Essex still offers its wide range of courses and qualifications for individuals at venues all across Essex, with subjects including arts and crafts, beauty, counselling, DIY, Early Years, English and maths, family learning, first aid, fitness, food safety, foreign languages, healthy living, IT skills and much more.

Essex County Councillor Jeremy Lucas, Cabinet Member for Environment and Culture said: "Last year over 28,000 people improved their qualifications or learnt a new skill through studying at an Essex Adult Community Learning Centre*. It is never too late to learn a skill so why not see what is on offer."
